

GLOBAL RISK: NEW PERSPECTIVES & OPPORTUNITIES

A Seminar & Conference
The Wharton School
University of Pennsylvania
Philadelphia, PA, U.S.A.
April 4 - 8, 2011

This four-day seminar and conference will cover the most important aspects of global risk in its different manifestations: economic, political, business, and social. Presenters feature faculty from the Wharton School, the University of Pennsylvania and other universities.

Monday, April 4

3:00 - 5:00 pm

Where is Globalization Taking Us?

Mauro F. Guillén (The Wharton School and the Lauder Institute)

Tuesday, April 5

10:00 am - 12:00 pm

The Economic & Financial Crisis

Mauro F. Guillén (The Wharton School and the Lauder Institute)

12:00 - 2:00 pm

Lunch

2:00 - 4:00 pm

The Problems with Trade Blocs & Currency Unions

Mauro F. Guillén (The Wharton School and the Lauder Institute)

Wednesday, April 6

10:00 am - 12:00 pm

Global Policy Risks

Witold Henisz (The Wharton School)

12:00 - 1:15 pm

Lunch

1:30 - 3:00 pm

Attend Global Strategic Management Class

Mauro F. Guillén (The Wharton School and the Lauder Institute)

Thursday, April 7

Attend Global Risk conference as auditors

4:30 - 6:30 pm

Keynote Speakers

Ian Bremmer (President, Eurasia Group)

Nouriel Roubini (Professor of Economics, NYU; Chairman & Co-Founder, Roubini Global Economics)

Friday, April 8

Attend Global Risk conference as auditors

Faculty affiliated with Santander Universities may apply. Space is limited. Visit our webpage at:

<http://www.regonline.com/globalrisk>

Hotel and select meals will be covered for participants. Participants are responsible for travel expenses to/from Philadelphia.

For further information, please contact Kimberly Norton at kanorton@wharton.upenn.edu.

