

INSTITUTE FOR GLOBAL LAW AND POLICY

2nd Annual

IGLP: THE WORKSHOP

An intensive ten day residential program at Harvard Law School designed for DOCTORAL AND POST-DOCTORAL SCHOLARS.
The Workshop aims to promote innovative ideas and alternative approaches to issues of GLOBAL LAW, ECONOMIC POLICY and SOCIAL JUSTICE in the aftermath of the economic crisis

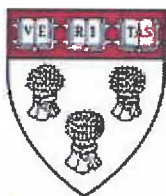

MAY 31 – JUNE 10, 2011

HARVARD LAW SCHOOL

FOR APPLICATION INFORMATION: IGLP@LAW.HARVARD.EDU OR

HTTP://WWW.LAW.HARVARD.EDU/PROGRAMS/ABOUT/IGLP/WORKSHOP/INDEX.HTML

IGLP: THE WORKSHOP is an intensive ten day residential program designed for DOCTORAL AND POST-DOCTORAL SCHOLARS. The Workshop aims to promote innovative ideas and alternative approaches to issues of global law, economic policy and social justice in the aftermath of the economic crisis. The initiative will bring young scholars and faculty from around the world together with leading faculty working on issues of global law and economic policy for serious research collaboration and debate. In 2011, we will inaugurate a series of new PRO-SEMINARS designed for small groups of scholars engaged in collaboration aiming toward publication. Alumni of past IGLP Workshops are particularly encouraged to apply to participate in these new Pro-Seminars.

The 2011 Workshop will focus on deepening our understanding of heterodox traditions for understanding global political economy. The ongoing economic crisis has challenged conventional thinking about the relationship between global economic life and national or local political choices and legal arrangements. The result is an opening for new thinking. To date, the academy has not taken advantage of that opening. We are convinced that doing so will require us to revisit and revive the many experimental and alternative traditions of thinking about the international political system, legal order and economy which have existed alongside mainstream thinking for more than a century. This year's substantive streams will focus on the ability of heterodox traditions -- from sociology, political theory, economics and law -- to contribute to our thinking about ways forward from the crisis.

The Workshop is organized to maximize the opportunity for cross-training. Directed by a team of Harvard faculty, the Workshop aims to bring together specialists from across the arts and sciences as well as the professional schools who are interested in the intersections between law, economics and global policy. Our goal will be to understand the history and structure of our contemporary world political and economic system. We will aim to map modern money, finance, development, governance, regulation and social justice, opening them to contestation and debate.

The Workshop is funded with generous support from SANTANDER UNIVERSITIES and SOVEREIGN BANK, and is co-sponsored by the SCHOOL FOR ORIENTAL AND AFRICAN STUDIES \(SOAS\) in London, the BERNARD AND AUDRE RAPOPORT CENTER FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND JUSTICE at the UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS and SCIENCES PO LAW SCHOOL in Paris.

Professor DAVID KENNEDY will again serve as Faculty Director for the Workshop. He is Director of The Institute for Global Law and Policy and Professor of Law at Harvard Law School where he teaches international law, international economic policy, legal theory, law and development and European law. His research uses interdisciplinary materials from sociology and social theory, economics and history to explore issues of global governance, development policy and the nature of professional expertise.

THE CORE FACULTY FOR THE 2011 WORKSHOP WILL INCLUDE:

ANTONY ANGHIE, Visiting Professor of Law and John Harvey Gregory Lecturer on World Organization;

ARNULF BECKER, Artemis A.W. and Martha Joukowsky Postdoctoral Fellow;

DANIEL BRINKS, Associate Professor at the Department of Government, University of Texas;

HILARY CHARLESWORTH, Australian Research Council Federation Fellow, Professor in RegNet and Director of the Centre for International Governance and Justice, Australian National University;

CHRISTINE CHINKIN, Professor of International Law at the London School of Economics

MATTHEW CRAVEN, Dean of Faculty of Law and Social Sciences, Professor of International Law and Director, Centre for the Study of Colonialism, Empire and International Law, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London;

DAN DANIELSEN, Associate Professor of Law, Northeastern University;

DENNIS DAVIS, Judge on the High Court of Cape Town, South Africa;

CHRISTINE DESAN, Professor of Law, Harvard Law School;

KAREN ENGLE, Cecil D. Redford Professor in Law & Director, Bernard and Audre Rapoport Center for Human Rights and Justice, University of Texas Law School;

JORGE ESQUIROL, Professor of Law and Director of International & Comparative Law Programs, Florida International University College of Law;

JANET HALLEY, Royall Professor of Law, Harvard Law School;

ROBERT HOWSE, Lloyd C. Nelson Professor of International Law, New York University School of Law;

DAVID KENNEDY, Professor of Law & Director of the Institute for Global Law and Policy, Harvard Law School;

KAREN KNOP, Faculty of Law, University of Toronto;

MARTTI KOSKENNIEMI, Professor of International Law and Director of the Erik Castrén Institute of International Law and Human Rights, University of Helsinki;

ROY KREITNER Professor of Law, Faculty of Law, Tel Aviv University;

ANDREW LANG, Senior Lecturer in Law, London School of Economics;

HORATIA MUIR-WATT, Professor of Law Sciences Po Law School;

VASUKI NESIAH, Associate Professor of Practice, Gallatin School of Individualized Study, New York University;

ANNE ORFORD, Michael D. Kirby Chair of International Law, Australian Research Council Professorial Fellow and Director, Institute for International Law and the Humanities, Melbourne Law School;

JEREMY PERLMAN, Lecturer-in-Law, Columbia Law School;

PAUL S. REICHLER, Partner & Co-Head, International Litigation and Arbitration Group, Foley Hoag, LLP Washington, D.C.;

KERRY RITTICH, Associate Professor at the Faculty of Law and the Women and Gender Studies Institute at the University of Toronto;

PHILIPPE SANDS, Professor of International law, University College London;

ALVARO SANTOS, Associate Professor of Law at Georgetown University Law Center;

GUILLAUME TUSSEAU, Professor of Law Sciences Po Law School;

ROBERT WAI, Professor of Law, Osgoode Hall Law School, Toronto, Canada;

LUCIE WHITE, Louis A. Horvitz Professor of Law, Harvard Law School;

MIKHAIL XIFARAS, Professor of Law, Sciences Po Law School;

The Core Faculty will be joined by speakers and discussants from the Harvard faculty and from other leading universities.

While in residence at Harvard, participants will review current scholarly developments and reconsider canonical texts with the aim of strengthening our ability to understand and influence the shape and direction of global economic policy and law. Afternoon PRO-SEMINARS will offer participants the opportunity to share their own work in progress with colleagues and leading scholars in their field.

IGLP: THE WORKSHOP - THEMES FOR 2011

Discussion in June 2011 will be organized around ten broad substantive themes:

- THE CORPORATION IN GLOBAL SOCIETY
- EMERGING GLOBAL LEGAL CHARACTERS
- GLOBAL GOVERNANCE ISSUES IN PRIVATE INTERNATIONAL LAW
- THE HISTORY OF AMERICAN LEGAL THOUGHT
- HUMAN RIGHTS AND SOCIAL JUSTICE
- INTERNATIONAL COURTS AND LITIGATION
- INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC LAW AND REGULATION
- INTERNATIONAL LEGAL HISTORY
- LAW AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT
- LEGAL ARCHITECTURE OF MONETARY INTEGRATION

Exploration of each theme will be led by a team of senior scholars and will be designed to promote discussion on recent scholarly trends as well as classical texts. In addition there will be several plenary talks by leading scholars and policy makers. All participants in The Workshop will have an opportunity to participate in exploration of each thematic area.

WRITING WORKSHOPS AND READING GROUPS

All core faculty will participate in small group sessions designed to strengthen the ongoing scholarly work of Workshop participants through collaborative reading and comment. Sessions will be organized to bring participants whose projects are at similar levels of development into dialog with faculty sharing similar substantive expertise. Each participant should expect to participate in four or five two hour writing workshop sessions, discussing the work of their colleagues with faculty from the Institute.

PRO SEMINARS

In June 2011, we will inaugurate a new series of “PRO-SEMINARS” designed for scholars collaborating to develop new scholarly writing for publication. They are designed to promote discussion and a collaborative work for publication. Each Pro-Seminar will convene between ten and fifteen active scholars, half selected by invitation and half by application, working on a common topic. We particularly encourage alumni of past IGLP Workshops to apply.

Each Pro-Seminar will meet in four two-hour private sessions during the broader Workshop to advance their work toward publication. In some cases, invited participants may be brought together for a “Pre-Meeting” during the academic year to brainstorm their evolving scholarly writing and plan for the June Pro-Seminar. In June, Pro-Seminar participants may attend the thematic streams and lectures which form the larger Workshop and may be asked to assist in the discussion of Workshop participants’ ongoing writing.

THE PRO SEMINARS OFFERED THIS YEAR WILL INCLUDE:

- THE CENTER AND THE PERIPHERY IN GLOBAL LAW AND POLITICAL ECONOMY: FROM COLONIALISM TO DEVELOPMENT
- GENDER IN POSTCOLONIAL LEGAL ORDERS
- GENDER, SOCIAL MOVEMENTS, PEACE AND CONFLICT
- POVERTY, INEQUALITY, AND DEVELOPMENT: BREAKING OUT OF LIBERAL DISCOURSE
- RENEWING LATIN AMERICAN LEGAL STUDIES
- RE-THEORIZING LIQUIDITY
- TRANSNATIONAL SOCIAL POLICY AND LABOR REGULATION: CRISIS AND CHANGE

The Institute for Global Law and Policy is committed to keeping the Workshop as cost-free as possible for admitted applicants, including travel, meals and lodging.

For Information about how to apply to the

WORKSHOP AND PRO-SEMINARS

please visit our webpage at:

<http://www.law.harvard.edu/programs/about/iglp/workshop/index.html>

